Art in the Healing Environment

About This Calendar

This year marks the fifth anniversary of the publication of Boynton Health Service's art calendar. Each year, our calendar highlights a selection of original works of art created by students, staff, faculty, and alumni of the University of Minnesota, which are displayed throughout our building. Research demonstrates that the arts can enhance health and healing. Boynton's art committee works to put that information into practice by using art to enhance the healing environment of Boynton Health Service and to improve the overall work environment. We hope that through this calendar we can transport some of the healing aspects of art from our clinic to your desk.

The art at Boynton comes from generous donations by artists and art patrons, art contests, rotating exhibits, art classroom projects, as well as the occasional purchase of art. Boynton wishes to thank all of the artists who have contributed to this effort. We are particularly grateful for our collaboration with the University of Minnesota's Department of Art. Many of the works in this calendar are from students, faculty, and alumni of this department.
